

Summer Workshop – This Year and Next

July, 2018

There were 19 artists who filled the art classroom at Dickinson High School in June to learn from Michael Dunn. Michael helped every person learn about transparent, translucent and opaque applications of acrylic paint and then put those learnings to work in a final painting. It was fun! Five K-12 art teachers will also receive 1 CEU credit from the University of North Dakota because of their participation in the workshop. Thank you Michael. Our thanks also to Tod Winter who hosted the group in his classroom, to Jan Stromsborg who coordinated the munchies and the lunches, and to Linda Renaud, who organized the whole thing!

What about 2019? Badlands Art members at their June meeting expressed the hope that Jennifer Stone could return in 2019. She taught a great 4-day workshop in 2016. Stay tuned!! Jennifer WILL be coming next June – topic and exact dates are yet to be determined. Tell your friends and K-12 art teachers to be sure they are on our email list so they receive the flier and registration form. Scratchboard Mini-Workshop with Carol Priestly

On June 19th, during the monthly meeting, BAA hosted a mini-workshop given by Scrimshander Carol Priestley. Carol introduced us to the various scratchboard mediums and potential scratchboard tools. We experimented with the different tools creating textures on the scratchboard. Carol also informed us about using Mastodon ivory as one of the mediums for scrimshaw. Thank you Carol!
